COWLEY HAPPENINGS

(June 3)

Miss Ruth Webber, R.N., of Mission, B.C., with her mother, Mrs. G. H. Webber, of Whonock, B.C., are guests of Frank Webber, and unable to return to their homes owing to flood conditions.

Considerable damage was done by vandals who entered the Roman Catholic church here on the night of June 2nd. The building was ransacked, apparently in search of sacramental wine. The Anglican church also was entered, but no damage done. The United church escaped. A loaded truck, standing at the Cowley hotel, was stolen the same night and found later at Burnis, and the guilty parties were soon apprehended, apparently the same who entered the churches.

Seeding operations were held up again with heavy rainfall today. An estimated fifty per cent of the spring seeding is now completed in this district, farmers reckon on seeding the remainder of the season. So far, seeding has been done under difficult weather conditions, with the fields being too wet for easy operation of tractors drawing heavy farm machinery, but with persistence and operating both day and night the work is being done. Planting vegetable gardens has also been a problem with most of the seeds being planted with difficulty and in far too wet soil, but even so a lot has been accomplished in this branch of agriculture.

Ted Thompson, of Lethbridge, has returned home following a visit of a few days here with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Lemire.

Mrs. Edith Fournier, accompanied by her little granddaughter, Michelle Iwasuk, returned Saturday from a few days spent in Calgary and on Monday of this week Mrs. Fournier travelled by plane to Penitence, B.C., where she will spend several weeks with her son and daughter-in-law there.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wende, of Calgary, spent the week end at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wende.

Mrs. C. V. Blackburn, Mrs. Sylvia Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Blackburn and their two daughters, Elaine and Helen, of Pincher Creek, were visitors this week of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Murphy.

Humming birds made their first appearance here today. In spite of rain falling throughout the entire day, these gay little beauties were seen gathering nectar from blooming beds of brightly colored tulips.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Murphy and their son Edward were recent visitors to Spokane, travelling by motor. On their return trip they were accompanied by their son Leo, who has been attending the University of Washington.

Blairmore Legion Entertain Elks

The 21st annual convention of the BPOE provincial association was held in the Crows' Nest Pass Monday and Tuesday. Delegates representing local lodges and from all other parts of the province were in attendance.

The Blairmore BESL displayed its ever present progressive attitude and good fellowship by presenting every delegate with an invitation card bearing the BESL and BPOE emblems and crossed flags, which entitled them to the use of all club facilities during their stay at the convention.

On Monday night the local branch prepared a social evening for the visiting Elks and their wives and local members. Under the able leadership of Comrade President I. G. Rees an excellent musical program was enjoyed by all.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the branch put on a buffet supper and from the many comments heard it was very much appreciated.

Many favorable comments were also heard from the visiting Elks on the fine club rooms and the swell time provided for them, and the feeling of good fellowship found in Blairmore. Grand Lodge officers and local lodge officers of the BPOE expressed their appreciation for the splendid program and co-operation of the BESL, which contributed largely in making their convention a success.

Am I the man I want the world to be?

W. R. Blythman, supervisor of special Legion activities, BESL, of Edmonton, was a visitor to the Pass this week in the interest of a special rally of district branches to be held early next month.

The service at the Central United church Sunday evening will be in charge of the young people, with Mr. Campbell Young, of Edmonton, delegate to the World Youth Council at Oslo, bringing the message. The girls' choir, under the leadership of Mrs. J. McLeod, will be in attendance. You are cordially invited to be present.

Alberta Elks Have Successful Convention

Favored with two of the finest days so far this year, the Alberta Elks Association convention, held in the Pass and entertained by both Blairmore and Coleman lodges, was brought to a close Tuesday night.

Following morning and afternoon sessions on Monday, patrol teams of Barons, Coleman and Blairmore lodges paraded to the Columbus hall for the annual competitions. Blairmore patrol team carried off honors in the Panday shield, while Coleman close behind was presented with the runner-up cup. The Barons patrol in their first exhibition carried off the R. C. Old trophy for class "B" competition.

Between the patrol competition and the evening dance in Columbus hall, visiting Elks joined club members of the BESL for an hour of entertainment and sociability in the Legion's fine club premises, all voting the affair an enjoyable time.

The convention was brought to a close on Tuesday afternoon with the election and installation of officers for the ensuing year, with the following being chosen to direct the destinies of the association:

President, Ken Lawson, Edmonton.

First vice-president, Charles Brington, Vegreville.

Second vice-president, R. McKinley, Drumheller.

Third vice-president, A. Prudhomme, Delburne.

Secretary, H. Wood, Calgary.

Chaplain, C. Conway, Lloydminster.

Treasurer, C. Richardson, Calgary.

Inner Guard, A. Wilton, Coleman.

Tyler, J. Wentworth, Okotoks.

The annual convention of the association will be held next year at Drumheller.

The 2-day convention was brought to a close with a monster stag social at Crows' Nest Lake pavilion.

Animals, pretty girls and clowns are prime essentials with any circus and if one judges the show on these merits, then the famous Bailey Bros. Circus, coming to Blairmore for one day only, Tuesday, June 15, will be called the peer of the white tops.

NO CHANGE IN COAL DEPLETION ALLOWANCE

In a consistent selection from their Ottawa Bureau, Southern Company Limited, Ross Munro says:

Finance Minister Abbott told the Commons Tuesday there is no intention of changing for many years the 10 cents per ton depletion allowance permitted the coal mining industry that in Alberta.

Speaking on the resolution to revise and consolidate the income tax act, the minister said that representations have been made by the coal mining industry in Alberta particularly with reference to the 10 cent per ton depletion allowance but "there is no intention of changing that and the bill has not that effect."

He added there will not be any change either in the method of allowing depletion as it has prevailed, going back to 1917, so far as coal mines are concerned.

A. L. Smith (PC) Calgary West, remarked that in the bill presented last year there was a change, because it was limited to certain initial costs which really did not mean anything. Abbott replied that Smith will see when he looks at the bill that the language of that section has been changed.

In response to another Smith question, the minister said he did not think that representatives of the Alberta coal mining industry need come to Ottawa to appear before the banking and commerce committee, considering the bill. He did not think the committee would be hearing evidence on the bill.

Mary and Jack were walking in the park. Jack noticed that she was looking rather gloomy.

"What's up?" he asked, bluntly.

"I was just thinking you aren't a bit poetic," she said. "You don't call me fancy names like Tom calls Joan. He says she's the apple of his eye and a perfect peach."

Jack nodded contentedly. "That's all very well," he said, "but you forget Tom's in the fruit trade, while I work in the fish market."

Annual Market Day at Lundbreck

"GOD SAVE THE KING"

More Living Space

MANY OF THE INTERNATIONAL controversies of the past have been associated with the never-ending quest for more living space for the people in the congested countries of Europe and Asia. As long as congestion exists, there is likely to be unrest, since it is in over-crowded areas that hunger, disease and political unrest flourish. The problem of finding new lands which are suitable for settling the excess population from the older countries is one which has been receiving attention for many years. There are still large areas in many parts of the world which are very sparsely populated because of poor climatic conditions, poor accessibility, lack of fertile soil or other adverse features, and it is unlikely that it would ever be considered desirable to move large sections of population to them.

Plan To Open Vast New Area

Recently the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, known as UNESCO, called a conference of representatives of seven American and three European nations, as well as observers from a number of organizations, to a conference in Peru, to discuss a plan to turn the vast natural resources of the Amazon River basin to the use of mankind. The area under consideration is made up of some 2,700,000 square miles of land which is at present almost totally uninhabited, and which is readily accessible to the Atlantic Ocean by way of the mighty Amazon River, in which sea-going ships may navigate for 2,500 miles, the entire length of the great river.

Called A Long Range Project

Delegates to the meeting came from six countries bordering on the Amazon, including Bolivia, Brazil, Ecuador, Colombia, Peru and Venezuela. The United States was also represented, as was France, Great Britain and the Netherlands, as owners of the Guianas, which border on the Amazon. There were observers from such bodies as the Food and Agriculture Organization, the International Labor Organization and the World Health Organization. While it will be a long-range project, and considerable time will be required to assemble the necessary information concerning the territory, it is envisioned as "a great new area of world development in this jungle land now inhabited by only a few Indians." In undertaking the project the United Nations may be helping to find a solution to one of the most serious problems of these times.

His Job Is Helping Farmers Solve Their Soil Problems

By T. R. MELVILLE-NESS
Central Press Canadian
SASKATOON, Sask. — L. B. Thompson, the man who played a major part in the launching of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration, is now director of the big organization. People close to the prairie farm scene greeted the appointment with unqualified approval.

Mr. Thompson called the first meeting of P.F.R.A. in 1935, following the passing of a Dominion act setting up the body which was charged with the responsibility of saving a lot of prairie farm land threatened with ruin. Since that time, he has been a member of the advisory council, and just as close to the work of P.F.R.A. as his busy life as superintendent of the Experimental Farm at Swift Current allowed him to be. There have been many occasions, say those close to "L.B.", when he has cut deeply into what would normally be sleeping time to make time for P.F.R.A. business.

More Scope
L. B. Thompson's main concern has always been soil conservation, and his first direction at Swift Current, a lot of valuable work has been done along this line. Now, as director of P.F.R.A. he will have much wider scope, and it is not any secret that this energetic man with the big pipe and the ready grin plans to make things hum as boss of Canada's biggest conservation and irrigation set-up.

Thompson was the man who, in the blackest years of the big drought that laid waste to millions of acres of crop, set out with his farm staff to beat the withering winds that blasted every green thing in the fields, buried fences and phones deep under feet of swirling dust.

Of his leadership in the grim battle against drought and soil erosion in the dry thirties, members of "L.B.'s" staff say he did a "terrific job."

Of this, Thompson himself has little to say... except that his proudest day was when the farmers, the men he tried to help, stopped referring to the experimental farm staff as "white collar farmers." "If there's one thing I'm proud of," he says, "it's the way we won the confidence of the farmers and showed that we could work with them, and find the answers to their problems."

Proof of this is seen in the high regard in which L. B. Thompson is held by farmers and agronomists all over the west. Having spent 22 of his 48 years in the study of soil conservation problems, he is regarded as an authority on the subject, and his widely diversified experience with soil and water conservation will stand him in good stead as director of P.F.R.A.

L. B. Thompson is a native of New Zealand, and left his birthplace, Blenheim, in 1920 to come to Canada. His first job was with Luthal B. Sharp, at Bashaw, Alta., where he sheared sheep. He admits he was not an accomplished shearer, but managed 80 to 100 a day. After further farming and ranching experience, he enrolled at the Olds school of agriculture in the fall of 1921.

Between the end of the Olds course and the start of a degree course at the University of Alberta the following fall, he worked for the Crowfoot Farming Co., plowing with a steam outfit, and, on occasion, with a 16-horse team.

After graduation in 1925 he was appointed office-in-charge of boys and girls' work for the provincial government. The following year he joined the staff of the Dominion field husbandry department, and did a job which involved the survey of grasslands, and a project to regrass abandoned farms.

Living Monument
Then in 1925 the Dominion government established the experimental station at Manyberries, Alta., and L. B. Thompson was made superintendent.

He remained at Manyberries until 1935. Something of a monument to Thompson's regime at the big lonely ranch is a fine growth of trees which surround the buildings. The trees, which are irrigated from a reservoir back of the buildings. The reservoir,

INCREASE SEEN IN WATERFOWL

REGINA.—A "moderate increase" in the number of nesting waterfowl in Canada this spring as compared with 1947 has been found in most areas, it was revealed at a meeting of organizations interested in migratory bird conditions held in the legislative building.

Reports stressed, however, that unreported conditions in the far north, and changes which may occur later in the season, might cancel or seriously influence these apparent gains.

Water levels are abnormally high in all provinces and in many areas flood conditions are unfavorable for waterfowl production.

To date aerial waterfowl surveys on which reports were heard at the meeting, have covered over 19,000 miles in the three prairie provinces. Ground surveys have covered nearly 5,000 miles. Many of the larger marshes are being surveyed from canoes and boats. Air surveys are conducted at altitudes averaging 100 feet above the ground, which permits accurate counts of bodies of water seen and their duck population on a strip a quarter of a mile wide.

In Manitoba aerial surveys completed by May 26 covered 6,500 miles; in Saskatchewan, 7,015 miles; in Alberta, 5,000 miles. Ground coverage in Manitoba to date has covered nearly 1,000 miles; in Saskatchewan, 2,428 miles; in Alberta, 1,030 miles of permanent survey transects.

which collects runoff water, was one of his favorite projects, and a fine demonstration of his firm belief in the value of collecting surface water and putting it to good use in a dry country. The trees are one of the reasons for the huge crowds which travel hundreds of miles to field days at the station each summer across the treeless sweep of southern Alberta.

The year 1935 saw Mr. Thompson's appointment as superintendent of the Dominion experimental station at Swift Current, Sask. In addition to intensive work on soils problems, he also found time to lend a hand to numerous organizations and campaigns, including wartime drives of all kinds. He has served as chairman of the board of directors of the Horse Marketing Co-op since it was organized three years ago, and has made an important contribution to the success of this project which set out to rid the west of surplus horses, and at the same time feed a lot of hungry people in Europe.

Mr. Thompson's appointment as director of P.F.R.A. was announced shortly after his return from a trip to New Zealand. He succeeds George Spence, who last year resigned to become a member of the International Joint Commission.

Mr. Thompson's wide knowledge of western Canadian soils, and his firm belief in water conservation as a means of improving the country fit in well with the aims of P.F.R.A. Men who have spent a lifetime on problems of dry land farming say that "L. B." will approach his new job with a degree of wisdom and understanding bound to bring good results. A close association with P.F.R.A. right from its inception will enable the new chief to tackle a job with which he will be completely familiar. Much of the early work of P.F.R.A. was carried out on the basis of the advice of such men as

H.B.C. JOINS HUNT FOR ALBERTA OIL

CALGARY.—North America's oldest trading company and a large American oil company will expand joint efforts to find and develop oil and gas resources in western Canada, it was announced.

The team—the Hudson's Bay Company and the Continental oil company of Ponca city, Okla.—will operate as the Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas company limited.

The companies have embarked on a large-scale exploration and development programme in Alberta with several hundred thousand acres of crown rights reserved under exploration permit.

L. B. Thompson, and he has been a member of the advisory council ever since its inception in 1935.

Mr. Thompson claims, with a good deal of assurance, that working toward a common goal with the farmer in the dry thirties created a new understanding, between the scientist and the man on the land. Such an understanding, say western agronomists, may well contribute in a big way toward success in "L. B.'s" new role.

Motorcade Postponed To September

REGINA.—The Brandon-to-Nelson motorcade advocating a southern route for the proposed Trans-Canada highway has been postponed until September.

The second postponement of the cavalcade was necessitated by flood conditions in British Columbia.

New dates for the Nelson convention are Sept. 3 and 4.

Ban On Japs In B.C. To End

VANCOUVER.—Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, labor minister, said wartime restrictions barring Japanese from "protected areas" west of the Cascades will end March 31, 1949.

He believed, however, the movement back to British Columbia would be small.

BARBARA ANN AMONG CELEBRITIES—Canada's queen of the blades, Barbara Ann Scott, had herself a busy time at Washington, D.C., recently, when she was an honorary scorer for Bing Crosby at the second annual Celebrities Golf Tournament. Before the show started, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy entertained the crowd, and delighted Margaret Truman, shaking hands with Charlie and Barbara Ann. Presidential candidates, sports leaders, and stars of stage, screen and radio took part in the festivities. Barbara Ann also visited the Canadian embassy and had a thrilling visit with President Truman at the White House with whom she exchanged autographs.

UAW PRESIDENT LEAVES HOSPITAL—President of the (C.I.O.) United Auto Workers Walter Reuther holds his daughter Linda with his good arm as he is wheeled out of a Detroit, Mich., hospital. Reuther's right arm, which was nearly blown off by an assassin's automatic blast, is still in a cast.

YOUNGEST ALLIED MAJOR-GENERAL—A major-general at the age of 31, Maj.-Gen. D. C. Spry of the Canadian army, whose promotion to that rank from brigadier-general was announced by Canadian army headquarters in France, is believed to be the youngest officer of that rank in the Allied armies. He is the son of the late Major-General D. W. Spry and was born in Winnipeg, Man., moving later to Halifax, N.S.

THREE DIE AS PUNT TIPS—Harold Rogers, 32; his son, Harold, three, and Reginald Spencer, his brother-in-law, drowned when trapped beneath their overturned punt two miles from Espanola, Ont. The flat-bottomed craft, powered with an outboard motor, capsized in the rapids of the Spanish river. Only person to survive was George Beer, 34, who reached shore, but was so exhausted it took him almost two hours to walk to Espanola and give the alarm.

LANA GETS A KISS FROM THE WINNER—Newly married Lana Turner, bride of Henry Topping, gets a kiss from Frank Brewer, captain of the British team at the opening of the midget car racing season in London. Eng. Brewer is holding the cup he won. An attempt is being made to popularize the sport in Britain.

CONGRATULATED UPON NEW JEWISH STATE—Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, chief Jewish delegate to the United Nations Assembly, received congratulations from Dr. Philip C. Jessup, (right), of the United States' delegation at Flushing, N.Y., when word was received that the U.S. had recognized the new Jewish state of Israel within 11 minutes after Britain had relinquished its 28-year mandate. Meanwhile fighting between Jews and Arabs is continuing in Palestine. Arabs from all countries have joined in the fight against Zionism.

MOTHER OF SLAIN REPORTER OFF TO GREECE—Mrs. Adelaide Polk, mother of George Polk, radio correspondent, whose bullet-riddled body was found in Salonika Bay, is shown saying good-bye to a younger son, Bill, just before she left LaGuardia Field in New York, to fly to Athens for her son's funeral. Polk was missing for a week before his body was found, hands and feet bound with twine. He had been shot through the head. The Greek government is making an intensive investigation.

QUEEN OF GARDENIAS—Linda Munroe, 18, wears her crown at Queen of the Gardenia festival at Cypress Gardens, Florida. She was officially honored in a colorful ceremony amid music and thousands of gardenias.

The Australian farmer came back puffing and blowing, and threw the rake in the corner.

Good Heavens, Dad! cried his wife: Why did you want to chase that poor mah off the farm like you did? Reason enough, growled the farmer,

I've just had to buy you that hat and dress; and I had to buy Daisy a present for her birthday, and I had to buy a new suit for David because he's gone crazy on that Burke girl. I had to buy a new set of harness for the buggy, and a cow rug for Strawberry, and I had to buy a licence for the dog—ess, but what has that got to do with it?

That fellow asked me if I wanted to buy something for the mosquitoes!

COMING NEARER

(Lethbridge Herald).

Coming nearer all the time is more efficient use of coal in engines. At the present time the efficiency in our use of coal in steam engines is something like 25 per cent, which is pretty well down the scale. When we remember that the energy value of a pound of coal is equal to the energy value of a pound of 100 octane gas, the difference between them being that the octane is close to 100 per cent recoverable while only a small fraction of the coal energy can be recovered in the engines at hand, then the value of any research which will make coal more efficient in use is a big step in the right direction.

British scientists are said to have perfected a jet turbine engine which will deliver 160 horsepower though it weighs only 250 pounds. We understand this uses a high type of light diesel fuel with a blast of hot gases therefrom being forced into two turbines, one of which operating at more than 17,000 revolutions drives a trans-played at the Hillcrest stadium on Sunday, June 6, when Blaimore defeated Hillcrest 5-3 in their second game of the year.

Hillcrest had the lead 3-1 in the 6th inning when Sider Chala hit a homer and brought in four runs, which gave Blaimore the winning margin.

Blaimore's lineup was: R. Vej-prava, catcher; A. Chala, pitcher; J.
Chala, 1st base; T. Cationi, 2nd base;
Mel Giacomuzzi, short stop; J. Do-

The Circus is

Coming to Town

The circus is coming to town.
It's the famous Bailey Bros. Circus, one of the largest circuses in the whole world, and it will be in Blaimore for one day only, Tuesday, June 15th.

Recent flood conditions in the west have forced the big show to change its routing and Blaimore has been included on the new itinerary. It's the first time in more than a decade that a real big circus has visited this section of the country.

Two performances are scheduled for the Blaimore showing at 2 and 8 p.m. Doors will open at 1 and 7 p.m. to allow ample time to visit the huge menagerie.

More than 500 people take part at each performance and among the many features are: The famous Hodgini Family of bare-back stars, the Stanley troupe of high-wire walkers, new European importation; Capt. Hugh Bennett, wild animal trainer; the Henderson family of equilibrists, the Clarkson family of jugglers and tumblers, Manuel and Chita Barraigan, world's premier trapeze performers; the Miller family of slack-wire artists, daring Delores Saudawski, billed as the "Queen of the Air" heading a veritable bevy of intrepid aerialists; the famous Bailey Bros. liberty horses and elephants, including an entire herd of pygmy elephants, said to be the smallest ever exhibited; Swede "Buck" Johnson, famed rodeo and western screen star and his congress of cowboys and cowgirl, and a whole army of clowns and hundreds of other daring features.

A complete slide show annex with strange living creatures from all parts of the world will also be an added attraction.

Advance Made In Tuberculosis Fight

OTTAWA. — A "remarkable" advance in the fight against tuberculosis in Canada was reported by Dr. G. J. Wherrett, executive secretary of the Canadian Tuberculosis association.

In a report prepared for presentation to the 45th annual meeting of the association, Dr. Wherrett said "the eradication of tuberculosis ... when measured in decades is most remarkable."

Causing a death rate of 200 per 100,000 in 1900, tuberculosis was responsible for only 48.2 deaths per 100,000 in 1946. The rate varied in the provinces from 17.5 in Saskatchewan to 70.4 in Quebec.

For Canadian Indians, the tuberculosis death rate was "almost fantastic." In 1937 it was 660.1 per 100,000. It had dropped somewhat in 1946, when it was 564.4 for the same number of persons.

FARMER MAKES OWN RAIN, COVERS 120 ACRES AT ONCE

ELSA, Tex.—Making rain by seeding clouds with dry ice doesn't interest W. A. Harding, owner of the unique Evergreen Farms.

For the past 11 years he's been making two and a half inches of rainfall a day.

Harding does his rainmaking on his 1,800-acre farm, where he grows alfalfa and sudan grasses for dehydration and manufacture into chicken and horse feed and vitamin pills for humans.

His is the only farm in the world, Harding believes, that operates full-time 24-hours a day, seven days a week, year after year.

Continual sprinkling, harvesting and dehydration is going on at the T-shaped farm in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Every 24 hours the sprinkling system lays down two and a half inches of rain on a 120-acre block. The next day another 120 acres are showered.

By providing plenty of rain, Harding is able to cut his alfalfa 10 times a year, his oat and other small grains three or four times.

His oats are cut when eight inches tall, alfalfa at 16 inches. The harvesters barely clear the soil as they snip off the plants.

"We cut while the plants are tender and have their greenest protein content," explained Harding, one of the real estate men who "opened up" the Lower Rio Grande Valley after World War I.

The alfalfa and oats are conveyed into trucks and hauled to the dehydrator, where they are fed into a telescopic drum furnace 24 feet in diameter.

Temperature of 1,750 degrees Fahrenheit bakes out the moisture. Then a hammer mill, grinding at 3,600 revolutions per minute, chops the stalks before they're sucked through a fine screen.

The finished product is a pastel green flour, as fine as a housewife's baking flour. The entire dehydration and grinding process takes less than three minutes.

Most of the sacks of green flour are shipped to Kansas City, where they are mixed either with poultry feed or processed into vitamin pills for human consumption.

"The best thing about this farm is that we contract for our production a year in advance," explained Harding, who last year turned out 8,000 tons of dehydrated cereal grasses and alfalfa.

"Our soil is getting richer, too, because of the alfalfa, although we fertilize the oats and sudan grasses."

The farm has its own power supply. Gas well provide power for the water pumps in the sprinkling system and for heat for the dehydration plant.

I saw a cloud caught in the branches of a poplar tree;
A fresh wind from the west hurried on to set it free.
I saw an eager stream caught by a drifting limb;
A happy boy broke the dam and the stream raced with him.
I saw a crocus caught against the earth's warm breast;
I left it there to grow in beauty with the rest.
I saw a baby caught within a happy dream today;
I let it slumber and hoped that dimpled smile would stay.
I felt my heart caught by the age-old lure of spring;
I did not seek release—I did marvel and sing!

Health LEAGUE OF CANADA presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

HUMAN MILK BEST FOR BABIES

As a food, human milk still remains the best type of milk for young infants, according to a survey by a subcommittee of the Committee on Maternal and Child Feeding of the National Research Council published in The Journal of the American Medical Association, C. Anderson Aldrich, M.D., Rochester, Minn., is author of the published report.

"Breast milk is to an appreciable extent a prophylactic food; it prevents or decreases the severity of many gastrointestinal disturbances," Dr. Aldrich writes, adding that it is an absolute preventive against constipation because it cannot solidify in the intestinal tract. "This preventive role of breast milk is much more noticeable when it operates among children in the less favored economic classes, among whom adequate health measures are not always available," he continues. In many of these gastrointestinal disturbances no other food seems adequate or assimilable. For this reason he suggests that breast-milk stations be made available in large city areas.

One of the chief objections to breast-feeding, Dr. Aldrich observes, is that it sometimes causes infections of the breast. With the advent of chemotherapy agents such as sulfa and penicillin, this danger has somewhat lessened. Another objection is that breast milk may be too small in quantity to nourish the baby adequately. "When this is true, even after a conscientious attempt has been made to supplement feedings should be given after the breast feeding," the writer states. "However, it is believed that the diagnosis of insufficient breast milk made too often on scanty evidence ...

OUTDOORS TOO ROOMY FOR HOUSE HUNTER

The other day a man, frantic to locate a place to live—asked a naturalist if he knew where he could find a house.

The naturalist replied: "House? Boy, you're getting soft. Why don't you live out in the open air, let old Mother Nature cover you with a blanket of stars, and have the blue firmament above as a roof?"

"Frankly," said the man, "I had in mind something a bit smaller."

lightened age breast-feeding is unnecessary and a burden which the mother need not be expected to assume. This may be true in the case of babies whose care is under the direction of skilled physicians, but it probably is not true for the great number of babies reared under conditions in which competent medical advice is inadequate or unavailable."

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Taking Care Of Grandpa

By MABEL E. HANNA

NONE of us on Chestnut Street was particularly surprised at what Grandpa Harrison up and did last summer. He was seventy-five, all right, but anyone who knew him certainly couldn't think of him as at all feeble, or childish either. His house is the big one on the corner, the one with all the roses, and the screened porch. He has always kept the lawn mowed and the paint fresh, and you should see his garden. It's the best place around. Inside the house was always clean enough, and comfortable. Martha Winslow saw to that. She lived in the next block, and had taken care of the house ever since old Mrs. Harrison died ten years ago. Then young John moved in with his wife and baby.

Martha told us about it at Aid Society, only of course they don't call it Aid any more, but as I was saying, Martha was near crying when she told us about it. It seems John had decided his dad was too old to live alone any more, but we could all see through that. Who would live in that little tucked-up place next to the tracks when they could move into a beautiful place like Grandpa's, and rent their own for a fat figure? So of course, Martha wasn't needed to keep things up any more. Grandpa Harrison took to sitting with her in her parlor real often, though. The young people were always having a crowd in for some bridge game or other, or else the baby was crying. Sometimes when they went out he would stay with the baby. But he didn't mind, as he told Martha. He couldn't really ask his own son to move, or tell him he wasn't wanted. And Grandpa just doled on the baby of course, though as you might expect, Ellen, that's John's wife, wouldn't let him touch her unless she wanted to go out.

Then Ellen moved in too. Him and his painted-up wife, and those smart-aleck kids. They're about in high school by now. Grandpa Harrison spent more and more evenings at Martha's. Used to duck out right after supper before those two smart daughters-in-law of his got him at their dishes, or the kids started up their everlasting Victrola and radio blabbing. He told Martha that Ethna would have liked to stay in his own home, but Virginia said they belonged there looking after Grandpa too. We all knew just how much rent they were getting out of their house. When Abe Lucas, he's the real estate man, told Grandpa Harrison about the deals coming up he supposed of course the boys would have discussed it with their dad. They planned to camp on him permanently. Well, it seems that both the boys had deals all set to sell their houses. And both stood to double the money they had in them. When Abe told Grandpa he just looked sick. All the noise and quarrelling of those kids and the two women, who didn't get on at all, was beginning to tell on him. Martha said it just made her hell to see him looking so tired and unhappy. All Grandpa said when Abe told him was to not let them put the deals through for a few days, just to stall them off awhile. And Abe said he would, but he thought Grandpa Harrison ought to tell those where they got off for once.

Well, that night at supper Grandpa told them he aimed to hold a family council at eight o'clock, and he wanted the boys and their wives there, and the kids off awhile. Kind of surprised they were, but even then Martha said she guessed they all figured maybe Grandpa was making the will, or something, as the kids couldn't help seeing he was looking mighty queer.

He didn't stay at Martha's long, but went straight back and the four of them were waiting for him. Well, he just told it to them right out. Martha says she certainly would have liked to be a little woman in a corner when he told them.

"Boys," he said, "you have been here nearly two years, and I've been glad to have your company. But now, if I were you I wouldn't make any sudden moves about selling my property. There's a mighty bad housing shortage on, and you might not find a place when you leave here. I don't want to rush you off, but come August I won't really need you any more. Martha Winslow and I are getting married, and Martha won't abide anyone else about." And he kind of looked at them. "We'll be kinda honeymooning, you know," he said.

Well, Abe said it didn't take those boys long to cancel their house deals when they saw Grandpa meant business. Martha and Grandpa have been married nearly a year now, and the house is just about the same as always. But you should see those two. Land sakes, they're likely to be out holding hands on the porch in broad daylight.

EDMONTON.—Out to set a Dominion house-painting record, Edmonton's junior chamber of commerce recently had to content itself with a city title instead—24 minutes and 55 seconds.

The "Jaycees" inaugurated a "Beautify your Edmonton" campaign by refurbishing in white and green a 20-by-30-foot bungalow. They raised by 10 minutes 55 seconds Toronto's record 14 minutes for a 1 1/2 storey house. Winnipeg, however, has posted 14 minutes three seconds for a three-storey house.

1,500 Mennonites Leave Manitoba

WINNIPEG.—More than 1,500 Mennonites in Southern Manitoba are preparing to sail from Quebec, for Paraguay, preferring to uproot themselves from their homes rather than risk violation of their faith.

They will follow a tradition of migration that is part of the roots of the 400-year-long stormy Mennonite history.

An advance party of 51 already has flown to a 100,000-acre tract in the South American country.

In Southern Manitoba, the migrants have sold their farms to neighbors, and some sales have been made to other Mennonites. Another 54,000 are staying in Western Canada.

MANITOBA MAN UNEARTHS BUFFALO SKELETON IN UPRIGHT POSITION

GLADSTONE, Man.—The skeleton of a buffalo, which apparently became mired in the marsh on the edge of this town, many years ago, was unearthed by M. Puhaich.

Mr. Puhaich, who lives on No. 4 highway, was digging a basement for an addition to his home and was down about two feet when he came across the skull. The horns came off and after carefully digging to remove the skull, he could plainly see the bones of the animal's back.

Further digging revealed that the skeleton was upright with all four feet in a standing position.

L.T.S. Norris-Elye, curator of the Manitoba Museum, advanced the theory that the buffalo might have become mired in marsh mud, or a river bed, possibly 70 or 80 years ago. He claimed he had never come across the entire remains of a buffalo in a standing position, but just bone and skull fragments.

Explaining "they are very stupid animals always going through; rather than around obstacles," he exemplified this with a reiteration of an eyewitness report he had heard from the late Chas. Alloway who claimed to have seen them, in spring, trample one another underfoot in stubborn attempts to ford an ice-hidden, flooding Assiniboine river.

Bringing

American Dollars
to Canada

In 1947 Canada's trade with the United States exceeded two and three quarter billion dollars. It is the heaviest two-way trade in the world. Canada's need for American dollars to sustain this trade is vital.

Who brings American dollars to Canada?

People who make and export goods; and people who cater for tourists.

And, of course, your bank helps . . . by financing business and industry to expand production for export. This is one of the many ways in which Canada's system of competitive banking serves the Canadian people.
